Course description:

In this seminar we are going to look at iconic brands and institutions (like hospitals) that are embedded in popular memory, at what put them at the top of their category and the way they built up a brand image that transcends their functional benefits.

We can all list brands like Coca Cola that seem to qualify as 'iconic' – but what defines this status? We will begin by exploring criteria that have been suggested for distinguishing these brands from brands that are 'just' popular or doing well. Presentation teams (or individual presenters) will present the story behind an iconic brand or institution. Ideally, this brand should be related to your professional background. Topics will be discussed at the beginning of term and you are welcome to suggest a topic. Presentations will be videotaped to enable you to benefit even more from our feedback. These presentation sessions will alternate with language workshops filled with language practice activities to help you expand your vocabulary as well as work on your speaking and writing skills.

Reading assignments and short writing tasks will be set as homework to provide further language practice.

The seminar is mainly aimed at students of "Lehramt Oberstufe Berufliche Schulen" with English as a subject and at IAA students who wish to work on their business English skills.

Participants from other departments with good language skills and an interest in business are welcome. You should have, for example, completed an "Englisch-Leistungskurs" with good or excellent results.

Course requirements:

- This seminar can be taken in the same term as Business English A.
- presentation + handout, handout to be handed in before the presentation
- regular attendance and active participation (discussions, homework)
- end-of-term exam or essay
