Course description:

Midnight in Paris - a Moveable Feast? American and British writers and artists in Europe: Exercises in literary analysis and historical contextualization.

Together we will explore the lives and contributions of American and British writers and artists whose works are connected with continental Europe. There will be a particular focus on Paris in the twentieth century, and on the key issues in Modernism and Postmodernism.

Participants are required to give a presentation on an artist and text of their choice, lead and engage in discussions, and complete a range of written assignments.
