Course description:

We will work on a range of short text during the course with a view to increasing your stylistic range in both structure and lexis. You will complete a library research paper on a topic of your choice which is relevant to your studies. Although this is to be completed in English, if you wish to write on a topic related to one of your other academic subjects as part of the preparation for your BA dissertation you may do so provided it is one that I can cope with as regards assessing the content.

You must complete all the work for the course to at least a pass level and participate actively in class. Class work and short assignments will comprise 20% of the grade and the library research paper 80%.

In a library research paper you review and assess existing research on a field of interest. The lower limit for the paper is 2,000 words and the upper is 3,000.
