Kommentar:

This is an advanced course which will focus on furthering fundamental academic writing skills: language correctness, organizational control, substantiation, vocabulary while exploring selected travel writings as well as leading contemporary writers in the field. We will be reading and discussing travel essays by interesting authors. All in-class activities will be based on the common core of readings. There will be an assortment of tasks done either as: group activities or individual presentations. Students will be expected to: 1. Attend class regularly, 2. Participate in class activities, and 3. Complete 3 in-class writings.
