Course description:

In this class we are going to focus on a number of practical aspects with regard to teaching ESP classes at vocational schools, in particular on choosing and adapting authentic materials for different levels of proficiency, giving clear instructions and on integrating a language focus into a lesson. As a course project, you will be asked to create a short teaching video that could be used in class to revise a language focus, plus an accompanying worksheet ('guided notes') or a digitally supported follow-up activity. For this project, you should focus on creating materials that can be used with the groups you expect to teach later.

Short writing tasks will provide opportunities for practicing your writing skills, reflecting on the session topics and for sharing recommendations with other students.

The class is aimed at students of "Lehramt Berufliche Schulen" with English as a subject.

Course requirements:

- active participation (including homework)
- creating a teaching video plus worksheet/follow-up activity and writing a short self-reflection on this video
