Course description:

Contrary to popular belief, North America has not only culture but also rich folklore with a wide range of types and fascinating characters. In this intensive course we will explore some of the typical tricksters, heroines and superheroes against the background of the American Frontier, the African-American experience, several Native American cultures, and the Wild West. The coursework will consist of a number of short readings and listening exercises and a few films on video. We will be practicing all language skills in discussing, reading and writing about these topics.

Requirements for the Schein are:

- several in-class and at-home written assignments,
- an oral presentation, and
- of course enthusiastic participation!
