Course description: This seminar is based on the topics and discussions of seminar 53-555 and 53-574. It offers the space for students to develop ideas emerging from the two seminars and to jointly shape a project that carries the debate further. The seminar is supervised, but the outcome will very much depend on the students' initiative. Possible scenarios include the formats of a symposium or students' conference, other ideas are welcome.
