

Guest Lecture in Seminar “Literature and Posthumanism”
(Paul Hamann)

Dr Natalie Roxburgh

University of Siegen

“Assessing the Posthuman Condition through Alex Garland’s Ex_Machina”

Monday, 7 May 2018
10 am, c.t.
Ü 35, Room 01016

Natalie Roxburgh is Lecturer and Research Fellow at the Department of English at the University of Siegen. Having recently published the monograph Representing Public Credit: Credible Commitment, Fiction, and the Rise of the Financial Subject (2016), she currently pursues two main projects: one on the poetics and aesthetics of ‘disinterestedness’ and one on psychopharmacology and literature.